4. Click on the course and click on the Permissions link. On the permissions page, there are four different categories – requisite waiver, faculty consent, student petition, and add permission.

Faculty Consent Permission

Some courses require faculty consent due to the nature of the course. An example of this may include internships, research classes, study abroad, etc.

Search for the student by their NAME or Student ID in the search box to grant the permission.

Select a status (approved or denied) for the permission, select a reason and provide any additional comments, if desired. Click the SAVE button to issue the waiver. You can also DENY a requested permission.

Add Faculty Consent

Below the name field are fields for "Status" (with a dropdown menu), "Reason", and "Additional Comments". At the bottom, there are "Cancel" and "Save" buttons.

Student Petition Permission

We are not using this permission. So you can disregard.

Important Information:

If a course has prerequisites and requires faculty consent, you may have students who need both permissions to enroll in the course if they have not met the prerequisites and the course is designated as needing faculty consent. If the course is full and we are within the ADD period, an add permission may also be required. No single permission trumps another permission.
